

Charlie Myers

Age: 45

Occupation: None

Status: Single

Location: Denver, Homeless

Life Goals

Get enough money to get back on his feet and re-integrate into working class society.

Provide Reggie with the best care possible.

Have a consistent source of food and shelter

Biography

Charlie fell into a spell of bad luck 3 years ago, He lost his job and wasn't able to afford the rent on his apartment anymore. He couldn't get back on his feet and before he knew it, everything was gone. He still had his best friend Reggie by his side, they've been through everything together, Charlie cares deeply about Reggie's wellbeing and asks for tokens of kindness from strangers downtown. Charlie would love to be able to provide for himself and Reggie at some point but until then, he needs some assistance in feeding the both of them. Charlie lives in a food desert so he's unable to get much of anything that Reggie and can eat and what they tend to get/ are given, doesn't have much substance so they are always hungry. Not having to worry about where his next meal is coming from would be the first step in regaining a handle on his life.

Motivations

- Reggie's Wellbeing–Food that he can eat that is good for him.
- Healthy food options as opposed to fast food
- Easy and accessible food options
- Re-establishing himself in the work force and the housing market

Fears and Frustrations

- Reggie not being properly fed or taken care of
- Not being able to find or afford sufficient food (or healthy food) for himself and his dog
- Wants access to healthy food that will benefit the both of them

Typical Activities

- Daily walks around the area with Reggie
- Ask for donations from passersby
- Visits the homeless shelters for food for him and Reggie (they do not allow pit bulls in, or he would stay longer)